A NEW MUSIC BOOK,

OF THE New York Musical Review, ***

NEW MUSIC BOOK,

OR THE

New York Musical Review,

FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPH, OR THE CHOIR BOOK," a new collection of Courch Music for Singing Behools and Choirs, by Dr. Lowell, Mason. Dr. Mason's last similar work, published in 1854, reached the enormous said, in its first year, of over 64,000 copies, which is, we are confident, the largest sale over cn. joved, is its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great cars from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choirs and Singing Schools. Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete work in itself, and forming an extensive collection of secular music, the words, as well as music, to which, are nearly all quite now. Retail price, one dollar, the words, as well as music, to press, including four pages of feading matter, including four pages of choice music in each number, with twelve pages of reading matter, including four pages of choice music in each number, with twelve pages of reading matter, including four pages of choice music in each number, with twelve pages of reading matter, including four quest articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c. Subscription, §1,00 per annum.

In view of the present hard times, and with the purpose of bottaining a wide circulation for specimen copies of Dr. Mason's new work, we are induced to make the following liberal offer, viz.; To every one sending us, before its November, one dollar, (the price of subscription to the REVIEW,) we will furnish the page for a year, and also, as soon asissued, a copy of Dr. Mason's new work sover amounced, thus giving two dollars' worth for one. Those destring the book sentby mail, must inclose twenty-four cents, to pay posize, in advance.

THE SEAMSTRESS AND THE AC-

A TRUE NARRATIVE.

(Coucluded.)

The praying young woman was taken by surprise. She did not know whether her visitor was in carnest or whether she was n jest. She went on in her simple prayer, telling the Lord the new doubts which were in her mind as to the sincerity of the actress; for she really thought she might be trilling with her, and with the subject of prayer. So she prayed that if the actress was not in carnest, she might there, on the spot, become so; and if she were in earnest, she might there and then give herself to the Lord Jesus, to be his servant forever. She prayed that she might be convinced of the sinfulness of her present manner of life and foreake it, and that henceforth she might lead a new life, of honor to God and usefulness to her fellow-creatures.

THE POSITION OF CONGRESS.

Congress is apparently bent with as much determination upon the preservation of its prerogatives and the reduction of all governmental proceedings within the strict limits of the laws, as of its action. The members argue, and not without reason, that hasty legislation in such important matters as are now presented to them must be crude and unsatisfactory, and that time is requisite in order to enable them to underetand thoroughly the troublesome affairs of finance and revenue before plunging into conciments respecting the effects of which they are doubtful.

While exceedingly desirous of promptitude, we are sensible of this necessity, and are pleased with the determination of Congress to restrain the executive departments and the military commanders within the strict lines of their duty. In too many instances the indiscriminate laste and overruling of set terms, and the outery against what is termed occurrences; nor has there been any more energy about these irregular proceedings than under the usual forms.

In fact, it may now be set down as en to irregular action, that Congress' finds extreme difficulty in restoring governmental affairs to their old channols the more so as the whole host of cormorants fostered by the disregard of set rules is up in arms against Congress, and raising an intolerable hubbub. The vigor which had given so much protection to extravagance and lawless peculstinn.

The total absence of all restraint unto the public service, and nothing can restore public confidence but the storn for them by the experience of half a parte. century, and pursue only the systematic routes to action, there will once more he official responsibility, a nearer approach to exact accounts, and therefore a means of restraining our expenditures within reasonable limits.

Congress, naturally enough, feels in which the government uses uses in the second of the minute, under take to set any bounds to. It has of into hundred Missourians fighting for the union and against the oligarchy. "The relations between the retiring Secretary and Mr. Standon are of the most cordisi character. Mr. Stanton has been the legal adviser and confidential friend of Secretary Cameron from the organization of the administration. They breakfasted together, with a number of friends, at General Cameron's residence, yeaterday incoming. During all of Saturday Greated Cameron remained at the Department, but refused to transact any business save that which was necessary to government operations." tions,"

The Mississippi Expedition .- The 16ent brilliant report from the West that the Mississippi expedition was on the immediate point of starting, and that seventyupon anything else now within the scope five thousand men were converging at Caire to support the movement, appears to have been a "false alarm." But among its other results was that of bringing a small stray tendered its services and requested to be of correspondents from different pulnts at the West; all down to Carro with a honor to that branch of the public service. These gentlemen, who are investigating committees by instinct and by training, proceeded at once to examine into the foundation of the movement stories. They oon found that they were the pooduction of stmy officers, and that the press had no willing agency in the matter. The public rill please bear in mind this fact, especially whosen from the Government stables.when it is disposed hereafter to lay the correspondents, who have already had ore than their share of this kind of odium.

But we presume the announcement in question was a piece of experimental "red tape," have only served to cover strategy. The Mississippi expedition may up improper movements, contracts or not be to meer operations as Gen. Buell's can Maythenyl, who came to the entitled to entry free of duty. This is an army, or, for sume other rearon, it may be very desirable that no reinforcements shall go from Columbus to Bowling Green. The authorities at Cairo may have heard of a design to send such reinforcements, and fully proven, by the whole history of tried the only method in their nower to following paragraph: this war, that legal systems are the on- prevent it. Correspondents who went in hot haste to that place in expectation of a grand advance by Gen. Buell's columns, complain that they found that General taking matters very anolly, and the troops lounging about, with no apparent indication of important movements. They represent that Major General Grant used the telegraph to create in the eastern states a false impression of activity that did

In one of the desperate ngagements of the war, Zagonyi led a charge upon a large artillery force.— More than half of his men were slain He was wounded and taken prisoner .-I'wo years passed before he could exchange on Austrian dungeon for Amorican exile.

Gen. Fremont welcomed Zagonyi cordially, and authorized him to recruit a company of horse, to act as his body-guard. Zagonyi was most scrupulous in his selection; but so ardent was the desire to serve under the eye and near the person of the General, that in live days after the lists were opened two full companies were enlisted. Soon aftor, a whole company, composed of the very flower of the youth of Kentucky, added to the Guard. Zagonyi was still overwhelmed with applications, and promplitude, on alsority which does express! be obtained permission to recruit a fourth company. The fourth company however, did not go into the field. The men were clad in blue jackets, trowsers and caps. They were samed with ight German sabres, the best that at that time could be procured, volvers; besides which, the first company parried carbines. They were mounted upon bay horses, carefully Zagonyi had but little time to instruct blame of all erroneous stury news on the his recruits, but in less than a month nents the Body Guard was a woll discliplined and most efficient corps of cavalry. The officers were all Ameri-cans except three—one Hollander and two Hungarians, Zagonyi and Lieut-United States during his boyhood.

CITIZENS OF NEWPORT.

In the present condition of our National affairs the importance of having as many men as possible instructed in the duties of a soldier cannot be over-estimated, and, in our State especially, where the exposed position of the Coast in case of War with a Foreign Power, renders it imperatively iccessary that we be prepared for defense. Six Companies, comprising over three hundred men, have been formed by this Association, all of which are rapidly advancing in drill and dispinine, but the expenses, of course, amount to a considerable sum, and the funds collected at the outset being about eshausted, we cannot, without the financial assistance of sur fellow citizens, continue in what we consider to be a good work. We therefore appeal to the patiroism of the citizens of New port to render us substantial aid, sufficient to enable us to carry out the objects of the organization, assuring them that we shall, to the bast of our ability, make all expenditures in a judicious and committed manner.
